"Their representative was excellent and, from my perspective, provided a very thorough and professional service, I was very impressed".

Gwynne Morgan, Environment Agency

CAUTION

Asbestos

Do you have peace of mind when it comes to the management of asbestos?

With a wide range of in house experience, covering everything from minor asbestos works to government and public body contracts, our staff are on hand to provide cost effective solutions to whatever your requirements.

Asbestos Surveys

We appreciate our surveys need to ensure minimum disruption to your organisations working day.

Confidence in the quality and reliability of results is supported by our UKAS accreditation, ensuring all sampling and surveying practices meet with the rigorous standards outlined within the international standard ISO17020.

We will work closely with you to deliver the right form for your asbestos register. Registers can be provided as part of an advanced estate management IT system or simply as a singular report in a digital or paper copy. Whatever your requirements you can rest assured our staff shall find a suitable format that meets the demands of your organisation.

Many organisations spend vital resources having surveys conducted and then implement elaborate management systems only to allow the data collated to become out dated through a failure to audit the Asbestos items identified. The data is often stored in such complicated systems that it is not readily comprehensive to the people that need it.

Euro Environmental will work with you carrying out audits and developing future audit plans to ensure the data remains current and compliant with regulation.

Using the services of Euro Environmental reduces the risk of claims and the potential for bad publicity. We make sure problems do not occur in the first place.

For those clients looking for Asbestos Management Software we can offer a range of solutions including Euro Environmental's own Asbestos Locator™ Web based Management system. Designed with simplicity in mind Asbestos Locator™ is ideal for organisations seeking to implement management software which doesn't rely on extensive training or the use of specialist personnel.
