

Law Firm Specializing in Business Law Remodels its Office in Mesa, Arizona

Denton Peterson PC

Denton Peterson PC, a law firm specializing in multiple areas of business law, announced recently that it is remodeling, and adding a new conference room to, its office in Mesa to provide better services to business owners throughout Arizona.

Denton Peterson PC provides a full range of business services, including:

- Creating and filing documents to establish business entities including corporations and limited liability companies
- Drafting and negotiating all types of contracts, including sales agreements, employment, non-competition and non-disclosure agreements, residential and commercial real estate contracts and many more.
- Creating the framework for a new franchise program, including the franchise disclosure document (FDD) and all accompanying documentation
- Providing advice about tax, employment and liability issues
- Representing clients in mediation or litigation
- Negotiating deals
- Overseeing real estate investments and sales

The experienced Arizona business lawyers at Denton Peterson provide legal representation for clients on both sides of these transactions. We have represented employers and employees, franchisors and franchisees, plaintiffs and defendants, creditors and debtors, sellers and buyers. We can certainly help you.

"We are dedicated to getting results for each client no matter the type of situation they are facing," Denton said. "We do our very best to understand our clients' objectives and concerns and to clearly explain to them their options and the strengths and weaknesses of their case. We want our clients to be able to make an informed decision that is best for them."

Practice areas at Denton Peterson in Mesa include:

- Business and corporate law
- Litigation and appellate practice
- Negotiation and mediation
- Employment law
- Franchise law
- Real estate law
- Collections law

The legal team at Denton Peterson includes attorneys who have decades of experience in these areas of law. For example, attorney Brad Denton has more than 20 years of experience in practice, and he has developed expertise in helping businesses determine the right structural entity to meet their goals.

"I have many years working with small business clients, and I love helping them establish the right foundation for long-term success," Denton said.

Partner Sterling Peterson is a native of Mesa, and he has nearly two decades of experience. His expertise includes business litigation, but he represents clients in an array of business matters.

"I work with clients to help them avoid litigation wherever possible by having the right documentation and structure in place at the start," Peterson said. "If litigation is necessary, I am committed to creating the strongest case possible to help them meet their goals."

Other members of the team include attorney Bert Millett, who has more than a decade of experience building his expertise in real estate matters and business contracts; Larry Dunn, who is a litigator working in commercial disputes; Elena Cottam, who represents clients in franchise and contract law; and Timothy Coons, who is committed to helping businesses and individuals with their employment law issues.

The entire team at Denton Peterson is dedicated to working together to meet the goals of clients both large and small, no matter what industry they are in or what challenges they are facing.
