CapTech's "Elevate" Ranks #2 Best Consulting Internship in the Country

RICHMOND, VA – October 12, 2016 – On October 11th, Vault.com released its 2017 Top 50 Internship Rankings and CapTech's Elevate internship was ranked 8th overall in the 50 Top Internships and #2 for Top Consulting Internship. Vault's rankings represent the highest-rated internship programs across a survey pool of more than 100 programs. The survey evaluates college internship programs on quality of life, compensation, career development, and full-time employment prospects.

Elevate, CapTech's summer internship program, provides undergraduates a meaningful immersion into the full lifecycle of a typical IT consulting project over a twelve-week timeframe. Elevate was designed to allow interns the opportunity to experience the many roles consultants play in everyday projects such as analysis, design, development, and deployment of a tool or solution. Interns work in self-led teams and are paired with experienced consultants for evaluation and mentorship. The program provides participants an opportunity to build something that matters with project deliverables that actually create impactful value at CapTech.

In addition to valuable exposure to the consulting industry and hands on experience with exciting new technologies, the program builds in regular interaction with experienced consultants and senior leadership. CapTech's values of fun and quality of life are extended into the program with kickball games, executive lunches, go-karting, and happy hours to name a few. This year's interns came from eight premier colleges and universities for Computer Science including Yale, University of Virginia, and the University of Southern California.

Vault surveyed more than 11,600 current and former interns to compile this year's results. Vault is a comprehensive resource for job seekers, providing information on employers, industries, interviews, and internships. CapTech will accept internship applications for Summer 2017 starting on November 1, 2016.
