

LOGiQ³ partners with Andrew Wibberley of Alea Risk to expand global Life Underwriting Training Programme to UK and Ireland Insurers

This deal will allow UK and Irish Underwriters to gain greater access and benefit from LOGiQ³'s highly acclaimed digital Underwriting Training Programme.

Cardiff, UK – 23rd November, 2016: LOGiQ³, a global consulting and outsourcing provider to the life insurance and reinsurance market, have announced a new distribution partnership with Andrew Wibberley – Alea Risk, a specialist change and customer proposition consultancy provider, to bring its industry recognised Underwriting Training Programme to the UK and Ireland market.

LOGiQ³'s decision to leverage the extensive underwriting background and network of Alea Risk, will not only increase the Programme's reach but it is also a part of their long term UK and Irish expansion plan.

Andrew Wibberley, Director of Alea Risk brings a wealth of knowledge and experience, including five years at Swiss Re as Head of Underwriting for the UK & Ireland. Previously, he has held senior industry roles at Ageas, XL Catlin and Munich Re. Andrew will be working closely with the newly established LOGiQ³ team based in the UK headed up by LOGiQ³ Group, Co-Founder and Co-CEO, Simon Bell and Head of EMEA Strategy & Business Development Andy Hazell.

"Training is absolutely fundamental to provide Underwriters with the necessary skills to assess the complex risks of Life & Health insurance. By innovatively using technology to develop both new and existing underwriters, insurers can improve both their risk management and their customer offering."

said Andrew Wibberley, Director of Alea Risk.

"We are delighted to partner with the proven capabilities of industry leader, LOGiQ³. Its digital Underwriting Training Programme is highly regarded and already used by a number of major UK industry providers."

Simon Bell, LOGiQ³ Co-CEO and Co-Founder comments:

"Attracting someone of Andrew's calibre and experience to work with our business is a great endorsement of our strategy and ambition. We are focussed on growing quickly into a leading training and service provider to the UK Life industry, and Andrew's experience will help us achieve that. He is already familiar with our service offering and people through his previous role at Swiss Re. I have no doubt that Alea will be a great business partner."

For business inquiries, please contact:

Andy Hazell, LOGIQ³
Head of Strategy & Business Development - EMEA
07870 636117
andy.hazell@logiq3.com

Andrew Wibberley, Alea Risk
Director
07814 626160
andrew@alearisk.com

For media inquiries, please contact:

Natalie Ho, LOGIQ³
Vice President, Marketing & Sales
natalie.ho@logiq3.com

About Alea Risk

Alea Risk provides specialist change and customer proposition consultancy services to Insurers, distributors, charities and individuals in the life industry. With expertise and clients across these areas Alea Risk exists to make insurance easy to buy for more in the future.

To learn more about Alea Risk, visit <http://www.alearisk.com>

About LOGIQ³

LOGIQ³ is part of the LOGIQ³ Group that provides specialist consultancy, outsourcing, systems and compliance solutions to the global life (re)insurance market. Headquartered in Canada, our companies operate independently and serve clients in North America, EMEA, and Asia. The LOGIQ³ Group serves 300 clients worldwide, administering 5m reinsured cessions and over $250b USD of reinsured risk.

To learn more about the LOGIQ³ Group, visit <http://www.logiq3group.com>

Press Release – November 23, 2016

LOGIQ³ partners with Andrew Wibberly of Alea Risk to expand global Life Underwriting Training Programme to UK and Ireland Insurers