MDSi names Larry Schilling as new COO

Alpharetta, GA- 9/8/17-MDSi (<http://www.mdsiinc.com/>) announces their appointment of Larry Shilling as their new Chief Operating Officer while new leadership roles and strategic alignment initiatives continue to be put in place to support the company's rapid growth.

"We are very excited to have Larry at the forefront of our daily operations. His extensive knowledge of our overall business and strategic imperatives will position MDSi well for extensive and sustainable growth." Said CEO of MDSi, Lisa McDonald.

Larry Schilling, former Director of Program Management at MDSi, will assume the leadership role of Chief Operating Officer (COO) effective immediately. Larry joined MDSi in October 2007 and has performed multiple roles with a primary focus on MDSi's fulfillment operations strategy, application development strategy and overall services profitability supporting the organization's Fortune 500 wireless carrier and cable providers. His proven ability to lead large teams combined with his successful management of multiple facility operations makes Larry a perfect fit for the COO role. In his new senior leadership position, Larry will oversee all MDSi functional areas and will be responsible for a more diverse set of business operations, delivery of programs/ services and the company's overall profitability.
