Cubans in Miami-Dade County Support Trump Administration Sanctions Against Havana, Back Expulsion Of Cuban Diplomats from USA, Want to See Cuban Gov't Returned to List of State-Sponsored Terrorists:

SurveyUSA interviewed 405 Cubans from Miami-Dade County FL 10/18/17 through 10/25/17 on behalf of the Inspire America Foundation. 59% of the interviews were conducted in English, 41% were conducted in Spanish. All of those interviewed were registered to vote. Among the survey's key findings:

- * By more than 2:1, Cubans support new sanctions against the Cuban government announced by the Trump administration in June 2017.
- * A plurality, 44%, say that the Trump administration's decision in August 2017 to reduce the number of American diplomats in Havana and to expel Cuban diplomats from the United States was the right response to incidents of hearing loss and possible brain damage. Older Cubans are more likely to say the August action did not go far enough. Younger Cubans are more likely to say the August action went too far.
- * By 5:3, Cubans say that the Cuban government should be returned to the list of state-sponsored terrorists. Young and old see the question in stark contrast: Seniors by 9:1 want to see Cuba returned to the list. Younger Cubans by 5:2 do not.
- * Overwhelming numbers say that Cubans who have worked for the Cuban police, military or intelligence agencies should not be eligible for visa and immigration benefits.
- * Overwhelming numbers say that Cubans who have committed human-rights violations should not be eligible for visa and immigration benefits.
- * Miami-Dade Cubans interviewed by SurveyUSA immediately after the 2016 presidential election voted 2:1 for Trump. Exit-poll data suggests that Trump's advantage among Miami-Dade Cubans may have been smaller.

Statement of Methodology: SurveyUSA is an independent, non-partisan, apolitical research company that conducts opinion surveys for media, academic institutions, commercial clients, non-profits, governments, agencies, and elected officials. SurveyUSA opinion research is conducted using a methodology optimized for each particular project. In some cases, this means data is collected 100% by telephone; in some cases, 100% online; and in other cases, a blend of the two. For those projects that are conducted “mixed-mode” (or “multi-mode”): Respondents who have a home (landline) telephone are interviewed by phone, sometimes using live interviewers, other times using the recorded voice of a professional announcer. The youngest male is requested on approximately 30% of calls to home phones, the youngest adult is requested on approximately 70% of calls. This method of intra-household selection reduces the potential for age and gender imbalance in the unweighted sample. Re-attempts are made to busy signals, no-answers, and answering machines. Landline telephone sample is purchased from Aristotle of Washington DC. Respondents who do not use a home telephone are interviewed on an electronic device, which means, for some projects, that call-center employees hand-dial cell phones and interview respondents verbally on the respondent’s cell phone, and means, for other projects, that SurveyUSA displays the questions visually on the respondent’s phone, tablet, or other device. Sample for respondents who do not use a home telephone is purchased from Aristotle or from one of several other research companies that provide access to cell respondents. Where meaningful, SurveyUSA indicates the percentage of respondents who use a home phone and the percentage who do not, and crosstabs by this distinction. Responses are minimally weighted to U.S. Census or voter file targets for gender, age and race. Target (cell) weighting is used. On questionnaires that ask about political party identification, SurveyUSA may or may not weight to Party ID, depending on client preference. Where necessary, questions and answer choices are rotated to prevent order bias, recency, and latency effects. On some studies, certain populations are over-sampled, so that the number of unweighted respondents exceeds the number of weighted respondents. Each individual SurveyUSA release contains the date(s) on which interviews are conducted and a release date. If interviewing for a particular study is conducted in Spanish, or in any other foreign language, it will be noted on the specific release. If no notation appears, interviews are conducted in English. Where respondents are filtered, such as adults, filtered to registered voters, in turn filtered to likely voters, SurveyUSA describes the filtering on the specific release. On pre-election polls in geographies with early voting, SurveyUSA differentiates between respondents who have already voted and those who are likely to vote but have not yet done so. On research completed prior to 12/31/16, SurveyUSA assigned to each question within the instrument a theoretical margin of sampling error. Effective 01/01/17, SurveyUSA assigns to each question within the instrument a credibility interval, which better reflects the sampling uncertainties associated with gathering some percentage of respondent answers using non-probability sample. Though commonly cited in the presentation of research results, “sampling error” is only one of many types of error that may influence the outcome of an opinion research study. More practical concerns include the way in which questions are worded and ordered, the inability to contact some, the refusal of others to be interviewed, and the difficulty of translating each questionnaire into all possible languages and dialects. Non-sampling errors cannot be quantified. This statement conforms to the principals of disclosure as recommended by the National Council on Public Polls (NCPP).
