

GIA YEE'S BIOGRAPHY

Gia Yee is a passionate creative and United States based singer, songwriter and entrepreneur, who entered the music business in with a series of reggae-rooted songs. Her original music has a unique pop reggae, reggae fusion mix, with a smooth, soulful, and evocative vibe that crosses over into many music genres.

Gia Yee grew up in an interracial household, as she was born to a father who is Jamaican Chinese and a mother of African descent. Though born in Washington D.C., Gia spent most of my childhood and life growing up in the suburbs of Detroit. Second born of four siblings, Gia Yee was heavily influenced by her parent's strong work ethic, humble core and their diversity.

Music was a significant part of her formative years, as pretty much every waking hour within Gia Yee's childhood home was filled with someone either playing or listening to music. Gia and most of her family members played some type of instrument, and if someone wasn't playing upon an instrument, then a variety of either Smooth Jazz, R & B, Reggae, Pop, Classical, or Classic Rock would be permeating the airwaves from their home stereo sound system. Music was Gia Yee's household background noise and their culturally diverse background seemed to influence our eclectic mix of genres.

Though surrounded with music, the thought of becoming a music artist never entered Gia Yee's mind until much later in life. Her strong belief that truly 'anything can happen', and that 'it's never too late to follow your heart', lead Gia to her latest pursuit, in which she ultimately found her voice through writing and producing her own music.

Gia Yee's aim is to share her musical production works and inspire others from all walks of life, and from all parts of the world with uplifting, and evocative music and productions. Gia's hope is that her music may be widely received and that it may resonate with its listeners in a healing, thought provoking, and empowering way.
