New Look: Same Dedication

Burlington – April 30, 2018 – The MHA Conference Center has been the “go-to” facility for healthcare educational events through the Massachusetts Health & Hospital Association (MHA) since the early 2000’s. While continuing to house the MHA Center for Education & Professional Development events, the MHA Conference Center is also available to local businesses outside of the healthcare industry and they’re attracting new businesses through their updated, innovative, and informative new website – www.mhaconferencecenter.com.

With their new website come new upgrades to the facility itself with beautiful conference rooms, invitingly decorated, fully-equipped with the latest A/V equipment to provide technology support, and a dedicated team of people who value the success of your event just as much as you do.

The professional and experience conference staff provides expert, personalized service from start to finish. The attention to detail, creativity, and flexibility are guaranteed to make any meeting, event, or conference a memorable success for any type of business.

“We take a true teamwork approach to make sure that every detail of a conference is planned and executed flawlessly,” said Laurie Snelson, Sr. Associate Sales & Marketing. “We support each other in order to deliver an unsurpassed experience to our guests.”

So what can you actually expect from the team at the MHA Conference Center? Flexible, competitive pricing plans for all budget levels including all-inclusive packages, professional planning specialists for the duration of your event, and state-of-the-art A/V equipment to ensure your event goes off without a hitch.

The MHA Conference Center can accommodate weekday business, civic, or community events, corporate retreats, sales meetings, business conferences, training seminars, or education sessions of all sizes ranging from 2 to 125 attendees. The facility is located in Burlington, MA just minutes from the heart of Boston. For more information on the MHA Conference check out their new website – www.mhaconference.com or contact Laurie Snelson at 781-262-6028.
