

Country Library and City Library

We recently checked in on two of our library installations- one in the small town of Sandwich, IL and the other in the city of Silver Spring, MD.

The Country Library: Sandwich, IL

The Sandwich, IL Public Library District (population almost 8,000) installed the iLibrary system on a side of the building that allows for drive-through style access.

Their system includes one set of electronic lockers and a keypad.

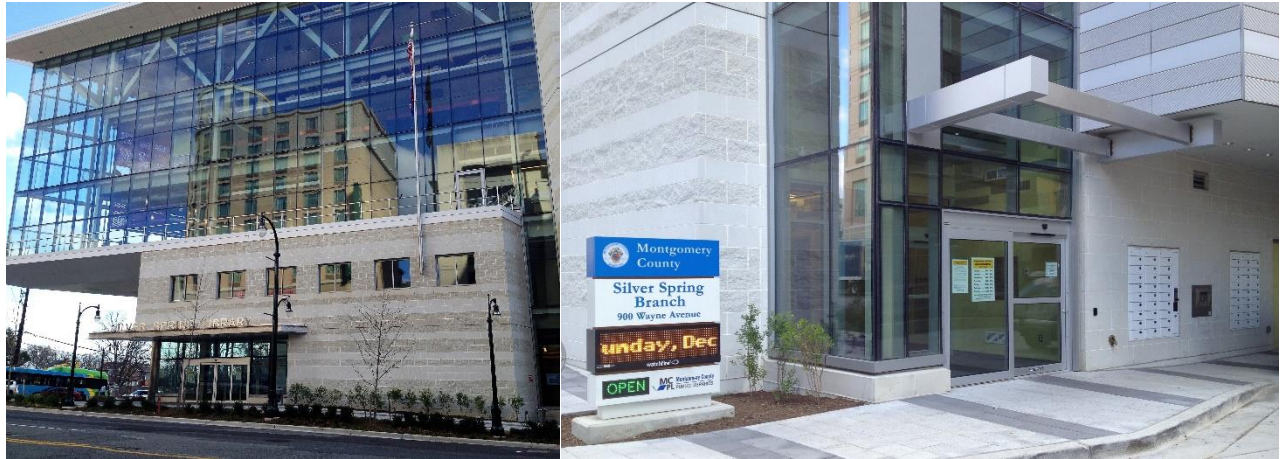

Country Library and City Library

City: Silver Spring, MD

Silver Spring, MD (population 76,000+) is located just outside of Washington, DC. This iLibrary system is located at the largest and newest of four branches in Silver Spring.

This downtown branch is accessible to pedestrians, but also includes a drive up area. There are two sets of electronic lockers equipped with a keypad and card reader.

The back end of the system is easily accessible to librarians and staff through two roll-up, garage style doors. The staff can fill orders from inside the library, and securely lock the doors when the branch is closed.
