Component Control and Aeroxchange Sign Integration and Strategic Partnership Agreement

QUE Group Users Conference, Coronado, CA – June 19, 2018 – Component Control announced today a strategic partnership and integration agreement with Aeroxchange. During the 13th annual QUE Group Quantum-ERP user conference, Component Control announced that Aeroxchange is now a strategic partner and plans to fully integrate all of Aeroxchange’s capabilities into their Quantum Control ERP Software.

Aeroxchange is the only electronic business network that supports all MRO business processes within the aviation industry for buyers and sellers. Aeroxchange provides a complete lifecycle of electronic communication from order creation to final invoice. The Aeroxchange service accelerates repair, replenishment, sourcing, inventory pooling and other critical operations in the aviation supply chain.

“We are excited with the opportunity to fully integrate Aeroxchange with Quantum-ERP,” said Todd Lewis, President of Component Control. “Several of our large MRO customers have been asking for a seamless integration between our Aviation Business Software and their airline customers. Aeroxchange delivers that and more.”

“We look forward to partnering with Component Control and CAMP Systems to fully integrate with Quantum-ERP and deliver Aeroxchange to 1,500 companies in the aviation market,” said Albert Koszarek, President and CEO of Aeroxchange. “The agreement represents more than an integration, as it lays the foundation for a long and beneficial strategic relationship.”
