

eMazzanti Technologies Advances Almi Dumí to Lead Dedicated Cyber-Security Team

New eMazzanti CISO heads focused cyber-security practice to thwart cyber-criminals and meet increased demand for cyber-security services

Hoboken, NJ -- (Cision) August 2, 2018 – eMazzanti Technologies, a New York City area IT consultant and managed services provider, today announced the creation of a dedicated IT security practice. In an internal reorganization, the company has assembled a highly skilled cyber-security team of experienced professionals. The firm also promoted Almi Dumí to the position of Chief Information Security Officer (CISO) to lead the cyber-security practice and direct the team.

According to sources within the company, the creation of the now operational cyber-security team and practice is a strategic move intended to meet increasing market demand for cyber-security services and to enhance the level of IT security afforded the IT firm's numerous U.S. and international clients.

"The appointment of Almi Dumí as CISO to lead eMazzanti's security practice demonstrates eMazzanti's commitment to combat increasing cyber-security threats with best-in-the-world leadership, training and service-delivery excellence," stated Jennifer Mazzanti, CEO, eMazzanti Technologies. "We applaud Almi's legendary dedication to customers, security, and service quality."

Cyber-Security Team a Logical Step

The organization of a discrete cyber-security team at eMazzanti is a logical step in the evolution of eMazzanti's IT services business. As cyber-security threats continue to increase, and many cyber-criminals go largely unchecked, improving the company's cyber-security posture makes sense to company insiders and is welcome news to customers. In similar moves, the company has also recently stepped up strategic partnerships to acquire new and strengthen existing cyber-security services.

In a brief interview, Mr. Dumí pointed out that, considering today's cyber-security landscape, a dedicated cyber-security team with specialized skills is an excellent way to meet customers' needs and exceed expectations. He said that the team aims to keep clients "always up to date" with advanced security technology and controls. He plans to implement additional eMazzanti's cyber-security services such as: Dark Web and intellectual property (IP) protection, among others.

“Effective cyber-security is essential to business survival and efficiency,” stated Dumitru. “Our goal is to provide the highest quality cyber-security technology, services and actionable information to protect our customers’ valuable business assets.”
