The inspiration behind Passages came from years of defeat as son and CEO, Pax, battled his own addiction-related issues for over ten years, Pax was hooked on heroin, cocaine, and alcohol and Chris did everything he could to save his son's life. It wasn't until Chris began asking Pax "Why" he was abusing drugs and alcohol that things turned around for the better and as Chris started working with a team of holistic doctors and therapists to customize a treatment plan to help Pax fully breakthrough his underlying causing that he began a complete recovery from years of substance abuse.
