YJT Solutions Rebrands as entara, Adds Services

CHICAGO, Sept. 5, 2018 – Fast-growing IT managed services provider, YJT Solutions, today announced their new corporate name and brand identity, along with new business process automation services. The new name, entara, and tagline, "The Smarter Way Forward, Today, Tomorrow and Beyond," reflect the company's commitment to fully support their clients' IT journeys from today into the future.

"The inspiration for our name came from both "The Hill of Tara" in Ireland, a historic high perch offering a 360° view, and the star Antares, one of the brightest stars in the sky," says entara CEO and founder, Linda Maclachlan. "Entara is about a journey to the future. By leveraging emerging technology, our customized roadmap process for each client leads us from their IT environments of today, into the best-in-class platforms and process automation of tomorrow, and then, into the next-gen technologies that will define the future business world. Our promise is that every company we partner with will be prepared to face their IT future... brilliantly."

In addition to renaming the 17-year old company, entara can now offer clients a fully-managed, pre-built, customizable ServiceNow platform with automated integrations to other leading toolsets. "Our new entaraWorks platform will help our clients on their journey into the future by bringing simplification, organization, and automation into a powerful single system of engagement," says entara president, Pamela Diaz. "There's nothing else quite like entaraWorks in the managed services world today."

Focused on the importance of creating a technological roadmap into the future, the entara website explains each of its various IT services. Visitors are encouraged to explore the site and sign up for informational emails, newsletters, and invitations to entara's Breakfast Series at www.entaracorp.com.
