Foy Mainor, Vice President of Sales for Paramount WorkPlace, will be presenting during the event, a brief, on-point session titled Five Ways to Save in the Procurement Cycle. “We are proud to help sponsor bbcon for the third consecutive year,” he said. “As a company, we are committed to providing solutions that deliver value and promote the sustainability of nonprofit organizations. Nowhere is cost savings more of a priority than in the nonprofit and higher education sectors. By implementing an automated procurement solution, these organizations are able to reduce cost and overhead expenses while streamlining the entire procurement cycle, from requisition through invoice payment.”

Paramount WorkPlace provides web-based and mobile requisition, procurement, and expense management solutions for nonprofit organizations. Mohamed Khalife, Director of Product Management Software for Paramount WorkPlace said, “Software brings the most value when it’s in full use. In our latest WorkPlace 2018 release, a few areas of my focus were user experience, mobile, and data analytics. My goal was making the user experience so intuitive that even if a user is new to the procurement cycle, they are guided through to the next step in the workflow. Equally important was offering users a powerful single-glance view of their KPI’s and spending analytics so that they can make fast, high-quality, strategic decisions at any time. More and more business is done on mobile devices, so advancing the mobile capabilities was crucial. Users can enter, process, and approve requisitions from their mobile app from anywhere at any time. Combined with Paramount WorkPlace’s comprehensive integration with Financial Edge NXT, customers gain a much higher adoption rate and are able to deliver the efficiencies nonprofit organizations are seeking.”

“Customers today expect far more than just powerful features and seamless integration with their cloud ERP,” said Khensa Bangert, Vice President of Marketing and Business Development for Paramount WorkPlace. “Part of my role is to discover these expectations and collaborate with our teams so that we are constantly evolving Paramount WorkPlace in the right direction. This also helps us accelerate the rate of innovation in areas that matter most to users for each specific role in the spend management cycle. “Our strong partnership with Blackbaud and depth of integration with Financial Edge NXT demonstrates our commitment to our nonprofit customers.”
