Excel Health recognized in Best Places to Work in Healthcare Awards

Atlanta-based company proud to create rewarding environment for employees while delivering solutions that boost the financial and clinical performance of post-acute care providers

OCTOBER 2, 2018 – ATLANTA, GA – Excel Health, the leading source for current and complete post-acute outcomes data and performance analytics for the healthcare industry, announced today it has been ranked as No. 25 among healthcare suppliers by Modern Healthcare's 2018 Best Places to Work in Healthcare. The complete list of this year's winner rankings is available here. The October 1 issue of Modern Healthcare includes a special supplement featuring ranked lists of all the winners.

“We are honored to be included in this prestigious list of healthcare organizations,” commented Ian Juliano, CEO of Excel Health. “As an entrepreneurial team, we believe in fostering and celebrating curiosity, initiative, drive and a passion for developing solutions that improve the transparency and effectiveness of healthcare providers in today's value-based care economy. This recognition demonstrates our ongoing commitment to our employees and our customers, who include four of the top 10 home health and hospice agencies in America.”

Excel Health offers post-acute care providers insight into the most recent and complete data, including 100 percent of Medicare Part A and B inpatient and outpatient claims data, that enables healthcare providers to identify new referral relationships, improve the productivity of sales and marketing resources, and better understand their quality performance metrics compared to their competitors.

Modern Healthcare and its Best Places to Work in Healthcare award winners have accomplished much over the years, empowering healthcare organizations, and the people who work for them, to realize their full potential. Modern Healthcare partners with the Best Companies Group on the assessment process, which includes an extensive employee survey.

“Our award winners can be proud of the role they played in elevating the standard for workplace excellence. They have the judgment, drive and resilience to solve healthcare’s most significant challenges through our most important resource: people. They are pushing the envelope and creating a more engaged and productive workforce, all while tackling the ever-present challenges of cost, safety, quality and access,” said Aurora Aguilar, editor of Modern Healthcare.

Excel Health was honored at the 2018 Best Places to Work Awards Dinner on Thursday, September 27, at the Renaissance Dallas Hotel. This is Excel Health’s first year on the Best Places to Work in Healthcare list.
