Reduce Ligature Risk

Protect Patients

Protect Staff & Visitors

Ensuring maximum safety at a Behavioral Healthcare facility is both a paramount & never-ending challenge.

In an effort to make facilities ligature resistant patients must surrender their shoelaces which can create additional stress.

Facilities must either provide patients with special footwear, or find a safe and affordable means to effectively secure patients' footwear to their feet.

Minimize Patient Stress

Fully Secure Footwear

Reduce Costs

We understand that the challenge is to find a proper balance between patient/facility/staff/visitor safety; the maintaining of patient dignity; and overall cost factors.

Patients should be given the opportunity to keep their footwear - a very personal item to most - while also adhering to all of the safety policies and procedures set in place to protect everyone.

Ensuring paramount safety and ensuring patient dignity at the same time should be something possible and accessible to all Behavioral Healthcare facilities.
