Central Texas Autism Center Releases Media Advisory for Verbal Behavior Conference and Cap10K Race

The Central Texas Autism Center (CTAC) is proud to host the Second Annual Verbal Behavior Conference in Austin on April 4-5, at the start of Autism Awareness Month. The Verbal Behavior Conference brings together top leaders in the field of Applied Behavior Analysis, Verbal Behavior, and the treatment of people with Autism and other Developmental Disabilities. Last year, the conference brought 330 attendees from 23 states, while this year's conference already has over 500 registrants from 5 countries.

After the conference, on Sunday, April 7, a group of CTAC therapists and clients will be participating the Cap10K race in downtown Austin. CTAC is working with Ainsley's Angels, a nonprofit that pairs up athletes and individuals with disabilities to promote inclusion on the running race scene.

Founded by Kelle Rich in 2003 with love in the heart of Texas, CTAC was one of the first in the state to employ and train BCBA professionals and offer one-on-one ABA therapy. We're passionate about creating a nurturing environment where both children and adults can thrive. Our highly-skilled staff of BCBA's and BT's implement one-on-one ABA therapy using Skinner's Analysis of Verbal Behavior. We work with children from the time of diagnosis through adulthood, from 4-40 hours per week in the center, home, community or school to help students prepare for lifelong success.
