

Expand Your Knowledge and Enjoy Disney

After a long school year, you deserve a retreat! Educators of all levels are invited to take part in an unforgettable professional development session at Walt Disney World in Orlando, Florida.

Spend some time each day with other professionals from around the country exploring transformational learning—and then finish each day relaxing poolside—or maybe catching up with your family in the Disney World theme parks.

Early bird pricing ends April 25

Find Registration Information Here

Lost City of Cibola pool at Coronado Springs Resort.

Enroll Kids in the BOLT Program!

While you're attending the retreat, your children or students can also develop important leadership skills in the Building Our Leaders of Tomorrow program.

Designed for students in grades 3-12, BOLT uses the Disney theme parks as a magical classroom, and kids from around the country collaborate with peers in an engaging, unforgettable, and transformational experience. Breakfasts, lunches, and 4-day Park Hopper passes are even included in the registration.

FAMILY DISCOUNT SPECIAL

Attendees who register for both the Educator Retreat and the BOLT Student Institute can receive an additional $100 discount off the BOLT registration for each child they register in the BOLT Student Leadership Institute—up to 4 children.

About the Pegasus Springs Summer Educator Retreat

The retreat will be facilitated by Gene Thompson-Grove, a founding member of the School Reform Initiative (SRI), a nonprofit fiercely committed to educational equity and excellence. Her work focuses on helping others build the capacity for transformational learning. Through her sessions, we will...

- Build our capacity to access, engage, and sustain complex and challenging conversations about equity, identity, and implicit bias that lead to changed practice;
- Identify the dispositions and skills of culturally responsive educators, and explore how to develop these in both ourselves and our colleagues;

- Use SRI protocols and resources that support adult learning, collaboration, and reflective discourse through the lens of equity;
- Invite feedback by taking a close, collaborative look at the we, and our students, produce.

Thompson-Grove has over 35 years of experience leading seminars on creating professional learning communities, coaching collaborative learning groups, examining student work collaboratively, developing facilitative leadership skills, and designing and facilitating adult learning experiences. Learn more about Thompson Grove and the Summer Educator Retreat here.