Cicero Group*

"Catherine is a skilled and driven leader that has proven to be incredibly knowledgeable and passionate about supporting the social impact community," said Dr. Trent Kaufman, CEO of Cicero Group. "Her expertise goes well beyond traditional consulting domains and she always brings top insights to the table. We're excited to have her join our executive leadership team."

In some of her most recent work at the George W. Bush Institute, Catherine was responsible for the development and execution of national and international programs, including Presidential Leadership Scholars. Additionally, she led the design and implementation of robust measurement and evaluation strategies across the Institute and, previously for the U.S. Department of Education. Catherine earned her Bachelor of Science and her Doctor of Philosophy from Vanderbilt University and her Master of Educational Administration from the University of Texas at Austin.

"This is an exciting time to advance in a rapidly growing firm that brings a wealth of knowledge to the table," said Dr. Catherine Jaynes, partner at Cicero Group. "Social impact organizations face many complicated challenges and we're looking forward to providing the best in social strategy and thought partnership."

Dr. Jaynes will be based out of Dallas, Texas.
