Meet Our New Military Makeover Family

Introducing Cody Patron

On August 6, 2011, Cody Patron's world came crashing down. She received word that after serving more than a decade in the Marine Corps, her husband, Sergeant Daniel J. Patron, was killed in Sangin Valley, Afghanistan.

Through his time in the USMC, Daniel dedicated himself to saving as many lives as he possibly could, earning The Purple Heart and The Bronze Star Medal for his heroic service. In the years since Daniel's passing, Cody, a Gold Star widow, has worked to pick up the pieces.
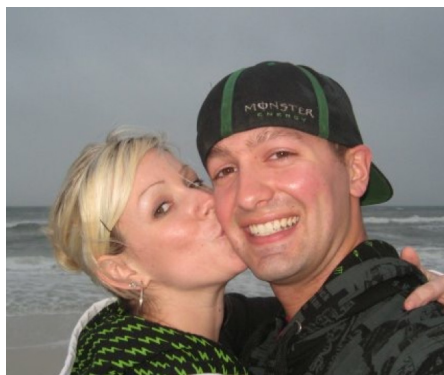

However, tragedy struck again in October 2018 when the Patron home was destroyed by the catastrophic Hurricane Michael, which made landfall as an unprecedented Category 5 and destroyed much of the Florida Panhandle region. After sustaining devastating water and wind damage, Cody's home, located in Panama City Beach, is still in desperate need of some TLC.

The first step in helping Cody and her daughter Layla start anew is giving the family home the renovation it so desperately needs. The Military Makeover team comes prepared with building supplies, designs, furniture, gifts and much more from the generous partnerships that the show cultivates. This process also involves local companies from the community and invites volunteers to step up and lend a hand in support of the Patron family throughout the process of renovation.

The final reveal unites cast, brand partners and volunteers, creating a literal "community celebration" of support honoring the change they created together. All episodes can be viewed after airing on MilitaryMakeover.TV
