EXTEND RESOURCES

Media Contact

Katie Allen
Vice President, Marketing
kallen@extendresources.com
404-698-1999

Stephen Henn Joins EXTEND Resources as New Chief Revenue Officer

Seasoned data analytics and AI thought leader to lead the company's global go-to-market strategy

STAMFORD, CT, September 20, 2019 — EXTEND Resources, a leading data integrity, governance, and compliance company, today announced that Stephen Henn has joined the company as Chief Revenue Officer. Henn joins EXTEND Resources from Conduent, where he most recently served as Vice President, Analytics. There, he leveraged advanced technologies such as artificial intelligence, cognitive analytics, machine learning, and blockchain to create product suites that solve urgent client challenges.

Howard Hoffmann, EXTEND Resources CEO, noted, "Steve's experience crafting solutions and developing relationships in a rapidly evolving and competitive space is a tremendous fit for our business. We bring deep domain expertise in data integrity, governance, and compliance for clients who look to enhance information security, revenue cycle, or operational performance. I'm thrilled to welcome Steve to our management team, and I look forward to seeing him leverage EXTEND's capabilities along with the market opportunities in front of us."

During his tenure at Conduent, Steve was instrumental in leading the development of new products around utilizing artificial intelligence, cognitive analytics, and blockchain for customers across multiple market verticals. Before his role at Conduent, Steve held several executive leadership and consulting roles, including CEO and President, North America/EMEA and Corporate Executive Officer for UBIC, as well as President and CEO of eMag Solutions, LLC.

Steve also serves as CEO and member of the Board of Directors for Fantome Media, Ltd., a next-generation media enterprise that creates core media content and builds extended content applications in complementary media formats. He serves as a member of the Board of Directors for NeuVanta, a company that provides evidence-based, technology integrated movement therapy systems for people who have movement-related disorders.

About EXTEND Resources

EXTEND Resources is an operational performance improvement company specializing in healthcare revenue cycle management, information security and data privacy management, and data extraction and analytics. EXTEND Resources brings deep domain expertise, process improvement know-how, and technology to clients, helping them tackle some of their most vexing data integrity, governance, and compliance challenges. To learn more, visit ExtendResources.com and follow the company on Twitter at @ThinkExtend.