

PrimeGov Announces Appointment of New Chief Operations Officer

New Addition to PrimeGov's Senior Leadership Team Instrumental in Driving Business Forward and Strengthening Operational Excellence

PrimeGov today announced the appointment of Sherif Agib as Chief Operations Officer. Former VP of Operations at Granicus, Sherif will be responsible for the strategic leadership of business operations and growth of the organization effective September 2019. With extensive experience in the government sector, considerable expertise, and a fresh perspective, Sherif's appointment comes at an opportune time as PrimeGov focuses its efforts on building a stronger and enhanced business structure to promote and sustain further growth, expansion, and success. Sherif brings a wealth of experience from his previous roles in Granicus, NetSuite, and ServiceMax.

Announcing the appointment, Tom Spengler, PrimeGov's Board Director, said: "We are pleased to welcome Sherif on board, confident that his industry experience and expertise will be instrumental in driving the business forward, growing our customer base, and leading a strong and dedicated team. His experience and leadership style make him the ideal person to head up operations at PrimeGov and we are excited to have him joining us to scale business at a time of rapid growth."

Sherif's appointment comes as interest from the market in PrimeGov solutions continues to grow, with PrimeGov more than doubling its number of clients in the last year alone with recent wins from the city of Los Angeles, Orange County, and Ventura County. Government agencies are rapidly adopting PrimeGov's industry-leading legislative solution for its advanced technology and enhanced capabilities and the new Chief Operations Officer will be instrumental in driving business forward.

Speaking of his appointment in the new leadership role at PrimeGov, Sherif said: "I'm excited about this new role at PrimeGov because it aligns very closely with my own values of putting our customers first and leading with passion and determination to meet their needs. PrimeGov collaborates with its customers and creates trusted partnerships and I'm looking forward to the opportunity to make an industry-changing impact in the government space."

As PrimeGov's client base continues to grow, Sherif will play a key role in scaling business processes. As part of this business scaling strategy and development, PrimeGov has undergone a rebranding to consolidate its products and services, which includes an updated logo and new website, which was launched this week: www.primegov.com
