

Introducing Stronghodl: An Effective, Easy-To-Use Cryptocurrency Stainless Steel Backup Tool

Providing Old-Style Security for New-World Wealth

Singapore – Justhodlcoin, a Singapore-based company that specializes in cryptocurrency hardware wallets, is pleased to announce that its latest innovation, Stronghodl, will be launched on Kickstarter on November 9.

Justhodlcoin recognizes that although cryptocurrency is the way of the future, security is a common issue, and for that reason the company is on a mission to provide an effective solution for those security risks.

“If you have trouble remembering your recovery phrases and private keys and have to write them down, that’s not a good solution,” says Justhodlcoin founder QH. “Paper degrades, ink will fade, and you’re seriously putting all your digital assets at risk. That’s why we came up with Stronghodl, the perfect crypto wallet backup.”

An ultra-effective stainless steel device, Stronghodl is compatible with any non-custodial wallet that uses BIP39 recovery phrases. It involves no third parties, and includes more than 300 letter tiles, a privacy screen, and an Allen Key for fast and easy set up. Set up requires just three simple steps:

1. Remove safety screw
2. Remove the metal plate
3. Insert your 12 – 24 seed phrases

Made from grade 304 stainless steel, the device is fireproof, waterproof and shockproof. It can also be locked up with a padlock for added security

Extensive prototyping has been conducted on Stronghodl. The manufacturer has been lined up and is ready to proceed, but the company needs help to raise the funds necessary for manufacturing, marketing, and distributing on a large scale, and for this reason has set up a Kickstarter campaign.

“We’re proud of what we’ve accomplished, and are the first to develop this type of product in Singapore,” says QH. “We really need to get the word out to all crypto enthusiasts, so would appreciate your help with that.”

Early backers will receive some exclusive rewards that include special early bird pricing savings of up to 32%.

“By giving us your support, you’re ensuring that your digital assets will be safely protected for generations to come!”

(Insert video <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=rLXnmaPWTmQ>)

About the Company

On a mission to provide access to innovative products that store cryptocurrency securely, Justhodlcoin also strives to educate customers on the industry best practices for keeping their digital assets safe. Their genesis product is Stronghodl, a cold storage crypto wallet backup tool made of SUS304.

A registered company in Singapore, Justhodlcoin was founded by QH who holds a computing degree (First Class Honours) from the National University of Singapore. He is, concurrently, the business development manager of his family business where he spent 6 years in the mechanical engineering and metal fabrication industry. He was inspired to found Justhodlcoin after almost losing his MEW private key written on a piece of paper.

To support Stronghodl or to access more information, visit the website at <https://justhodlcoin.com/> or Kickstarter.

Media Contact

Contact name: QH

State & City: Singapore

Tel #: +65 89038422

Email: hello@justhodlcoin.com

<https://justhodlcoin.com/>

<https://www.kickstarter.com/projects/justhodlcoin/stronghodl-old-style-security-for-new-world-wealth>