SUSAN CROCKIN, FELLOW OF THE ACADEMY OF ADOPTION & ASSISTED REPRODUCTION ATTORNEYS, HONORED WITH RESOLVE'S HOPE AWARD FOR ACHIEVEMENT

(GREENWOOD, INDIANA, NOVEMBER 12, 2019) – Each year, RESOLVE (The National Infertility Support Group) acknowledges a select group of individuals/organizations who have truly impacted those diagnosed with infertility. This year, Academy of Adoption & Assisted Reproduction Attorneys (“AAAA”) Fellow Susan Crockin received RESOLVE’s prestigious Hope Award for Achievement, presented at the Night of Hope Gala in New York City on November 11, 2019. AAAA is proud to extend sincere congratulations to our friend, colleague and mentor Susan Crockin.

In 1988, Susan started one of the first legal practices in the US focusing exclusively on Assisted Reproductive Technology (“ART”) and Adoption Law. She currently teaches both domestic and international ART law at Georgetown Law Center, and is the principal attorney at Crockin Law and Policy Group. She holds appointments as a Senior Scholar at Georgetown’s O’Neill Institute for National & Global Health Law, as adjunct professor at Eastern Virginia Medical and as a Research Assistant Professor at Georgetown’s Kennedy Institute of Ethics, where she is developing “Jones Rounds,” an inter-disciplinary Legal-Ethics curriculum designed for ObGyn residents and REI fellows and named in honor of the late Howard Jones, MD. Susan writes and lectures extensively on the legal, ethical and policy aspects of ART, and is well-recognized for her thoughtful analysis and insight in these areas.

Among her many accomplishments, Susan was a founding member of both ASRM’s Legal Professional Group and the Academy of Adoption and Assisted Reproductive Technology Attorneys, is a former board member of RESOLVE, and a current member of SART’s Model Consent Committee.

Susan, AAAA salutes you!
