

Governance Solutions

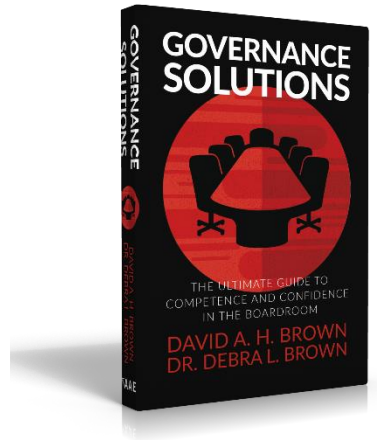

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Governance Solutions Releases New Book!

January 3, 2020 - Toronto, Ontario, Canada

Canada's leading corporate governance experts have announced the global release of their new book Governance Solutions: The Ultimate Guide to Competence and Confidence in the Boardroom.

This single source—the ultimate guide—offers board members and executives solutions to their governance problems. Practical and comprehensive, everything they need to succeed in the boardroom can be found in this one place.

Gain:

- Access! It offers access to almost 70 governance concepts and tools that are unique only to this book.
- Answers! It tells them not only what works, but just as important what does not work in governance.
- Attitude! This Ultimate Guide gives readers the competence and confidence they need to succeed in the boardroom, covering the broad spectrum of governance issues from structure and process, through boardroom leadership, culture and behaviour—those less tangible but substantial aspects of effective governance, oversight and leadership.

Stephen Davis, Associate Director and Senior Fellow of Harvard Law School Programs on Corporate Governance and Institutional Investors says, “With so many spotlights trained on corporate boards, there could hardly be a better moment for hands-on, cutting-edge guidance on how directors can power success—and avoid traps. David and Debra Brown are world-class experts; their new book earns a place on director desks everywhere.”

This is a big deal for board members and executives because this is not just a book “about governance”, it tells them how to “do governance”. Whatever the sector (private, public or not-for-profit) or jurisdiction in the world, this guide remains a highly relevant resource. From the role of the board in strategy and risk oversight, effective policy setting and compliance reporting, successfully navigating the board’s relationship with the CEO, succession planning, and protecting and stewarding the company’s financial and other resources, to governance systems, committee structures and meeting processes, readers will understand the depth and breadth of how to add value and provide strategic oversight to any organization.

“Today’s board members need more tools not more rules! This book is chock full of tools!” says Dr. Debra L. Brown, President & CEO of Governance Solutions. What board members and executives need are more tools to gain the competence they need to confidently oversee the organizations they serve. This book gives them just that! It really is THE ULTIMATE GOVERNANCE GUIDE. Everything they need to know about governance to be successful in the boardroom is in this book.

Authors David A. H. Brown and Dr. Debra L. Brown each has almost 30 years of direct and practical experience working full-time with boards. Comfortable and confident with both boards and executives, their mix of well-researched, experiential and conceptual insights uniquely qualify them to advise organizations on their governance.

More information on this ultimate guide to competence and confidence in the boardroom is available online at www.governancesolutionsbook.com or get it at Amazon and wherever books are sold.

You can reach either David A. H. Brown at 905-699-2920 / brown@governancesolutions.ca or Dr. Debra L. Brown at 905-699-2149 / dbrown@governancesolutions.ca

END RELEASE
