

Distracted Driving

The public supports passage of state laws to prohibit distracting activities behind the wheel while still allowing use of phones for getting directions.

Providing grant money to incentivize states to pass better laws to curb distracted driving is widely supported.

