

Morae's Phoenix Business Solutions and Prosperoware Enter Strategic Partnership to Provide Enterprise Privacy Solutions for iManage, Microsoft Teams, and Other Content Systems

London, UK – 23 April 2020 – Phoenix Business Solutions, a Morae Global Corporation company and leading global information and document management specialist, and Prosperoware, a thought-leading enterprise privacy management software company, today announced a strategic partnership to provide privacy and regulatory compliance solutions for law firms and corporations looking to govern content and security across multiple content systems, including Microsoft Teams.

Under the partnership, Morae's Phoenix group will offer Prosperoware's CAM platform for enterprise privacy management to enable law firm and corporate iManage end users with enhanced governance access to Microsoft Teams, SharePoint Online and HighQ, among others. Clients will benefit from ensuring they meet their privacy, compliance, and cybersecurity obligations while providing their end users with increased productivity and collaboration. Award-winning application support is also provided by Morae's Phoenix group, recently named iManage Partner of the Year.

Teams has seen an exponential increase in adoption following COVID19 social distancing and lockdown mandates, and is the fastest growing application in Microsoft's history. For many organizations, Teams is a powerful tool for minimizing internal email while enhancing collaboration with clients and business partners. But as law firms and legal teams create hundreds, if not thousands of matters per month, a challenge arises in how to track these activities with their associated matters and enforce information barriers and other security and privacy requirements. Prosperoware CAM addresses these challenges by adding a governance layer over content along with integration into the firm's document (DMS), practice or matter management systems.

Matt Crocker, President of Morae's Technology Consulting Business, explains: "Our clients using Microsoft Teams are quickly realising they need the same level of control and governance they already have with the DMS. We are excited to partner with Prosperoware to provide a timely solution for this rapidly growing client need."

Morae's Phoenix Business Solutions has years of experience in providing clients with workspace management for iManage, including with its own Workspace Control application. For existing Workspace Control clients, the Morae Phoenix team has integrated Workspace Control with Prosperoware CAM for ease of use with CAM for Teams.

Keith Lipman, CEO & Co-founder at Prosperoware, added "Law firms and many legal departments use a variety of content systems beyond the DMS, such as transaction management, litigation management, eDiscovery, extranet, and collaboration. Teams is just another example. CAM provides the ability to link process with governance to enable unified management across systems. Morae's Phoenix Business Solutions deep domain knowledge of the legal industry makes them a perfect partner for Prosperoware."
