Alitek Expands U.S. Presence in the Southeast with Senior-level Hire

HOUSTON, TX, August 25, 2020 — Alitek today announced the company's expansion into the Southeast regional market with the hiring of new Business Development Principal, Hemant Doshi.

Based in Atlanta, Hemant previously held the position of VP of Sales at Deloitte, serving customers in multiple industries including telecom, finance, technology, manufacturing, food & beverage and logistics. With an MBA from Mumbai University, he has 25 years of experience in IT and an in-depth knowledge of core business processes. Hemant brings to Alitek a proven track record of helping customers to improve their business processes through the use of information strategies and technology solutions.

"Hemant's track record of solving tough business problems with technology expands Alitek's offerings," said Mike Brookover, Alitek CEO, "and I see how his experience in Cloud, RPA, Analytics and Big Data will strengthen our relationships with our existing customers, and lead to new client partnerships and overall growth. Additionally, Atlanta is a dynamic city and I am excited to expand Alitek's offerings into this market."
