FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

JobNimbus Partners with Simplii - a VoIP provider to help contractors keep professional conversations more organized

LEHI, Utah--JobNimbus announced today from its headquarters in Lehi, Utah, a new strategic relationship with Simplii, a hosted Voice-over Internet Protocol (VoIP) provider to help contractors simplify their communications from anywhere and on any device.

Simplii is a completely customizable VoIP system that streamlines communication across all messaging channels. Contractors use it to flexibly communicate the way customers prefer to reach them. Regardless of their location or what device they're on, users can stay in contact with their customers. Simplii helps businesses across all industries nationwide track phone calls and text messages directly within JobNimbus. With its automatic call recording system, it allows users to keep recordings and detailed notes of calls in JobNimbus so they can review past conversations with ease.

"Simplii chose to partner with JobNimbus because we understand the power and functionality that JobNimbus provides their clients and we wanted to be another spoke in that hub in terms of bringing added value and features to make JobNimbus even more powerful," said Steve Waite, Director of Business Development at Simplii.

This new integration allows contractors to be more professional and organize their communications easier. By having all phone recordings and notes on hand at any location, contractors can quickly access accurate details of discussions and store call recordings for any future use or need. The integration makes it easy for contractors to refer back to specifics they may have missed on a call. With the help of Simplii, contractors can provide clearer communication and better customer service to grow their business.

"Our number one goal is to help our customers grow their business," said Mark Olson, Vice President of Marketing at JobNimbus. "Providing integrated tools that help contractors be more efficient, more organized, more professional and more profitable is what helps our customers drive growth. The Simplii solution checks all those boxes. We are excited to bring the power of VoIP to our customers."
