Transforming Surplus IT Into Opportunity

Refurbished hardware becomes a gateway to success for the digitally excluded.

Four billion people are offline in a global economy where being connected is a condition of success—tens of millions in the U.S. alone. Supporting digital inclusion is an investment in peace, prosperity, and human enlightenment. We can all get behind that.

The Sage GoodTogether<sup>SM</sup> program professionalizes the entire process of preparing, distributing, and measuring the impact of technology donations to ensure their effectiveness. Our goal is to deliver a new device experience to every recipient, including the support they need to get started.

We work with a number of non-profit GoodTogether partners to provide training and support to targeted recipients; our priorities are education, entrepreneurship, and opportunities for women and girls. We are also proud to support our customers' charities of choice.

DOING GOOD TOGETHER HAS NEVER BEEN MORE IMPORTANT

16.2% of U.S. households do not own a computer.

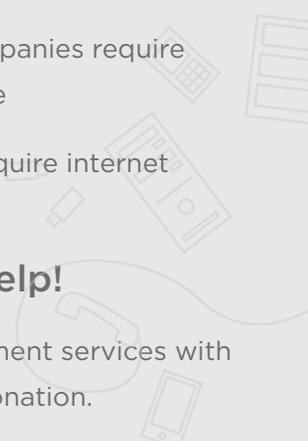

A contributory cause of death among low income women is lack of access to healthcare information.

80% of Fortune 500 companies require applicants to apply online

60% of American jobs require internet proficiency
