CABEM, an enterprise custom development company has partnered with MCSC to support their effort for a safer America

[Auburndale, MA, 9/8/21] CABEM, a custom enterprise development and competency solution provider, has development a solution for managing CJIS policy compliance.

Sheriff's offices across the country struggle to assemble CJIS compliance requirements from multiple departments and vendors, kept in disparate file systems, and often managed outside of a standard set of practices. CABEM's tool resolves this by providing a unified online experience that guides teams through the process and keeps Sheriff's departments prepared for audits on an ongoing basis. Use this tool, and you are implementing the CJIS security policy correctly.

By participating in and supporting the efforts of MCSA, CABEM will be well positioned to efficiently deliver a software solution to allow Sheriff's offices across the country to focus more on creating a safer America, and less on inefficient paperwork and documentation.

"As a software developer, we are thrilled to be partnering with MCSC. Our software is only as good as the problem it solves. The MCSC organization will provide us valued insights to ensure we are continuing to optimize and adapt our CJIS solution to meet this ongoing challenge", said Jay Fredkin, Co-Founder and CEO, CABEM.
