Urgently Health Launches App With Mission of Humanizing Healthcare

Making Last-Minute, Unplanned Medical Visits Easy for Patients and Providers

NEW YORK CITY, October 4, 2021 – Patients who have rushed a loved one to the emergency room only to wait hours before being seen will attest that being able to check ahead and find a facility with a shorter wait time would save a lot of headache and could possibly save a life. When seeking urgent medical assistance, patients need immediate results, and now there's a healthcare app that can help save valuable time in situations when every minute counts. With information on medical facilities in the area, including locations, hours, wait times, and more, the Urgently Health app is what patients in New York and New Jersey have been waiting for to take the pain out of unexpected medical visits.

Launched on the App Store and Google Play on September 22, 2021, the Urgently Health app is now available for download on iPhone and Android devices. With the launch of this app, patients can find urgent care facilities near them, and physicians can also use the accompanying platform to pre-triage patients in need of immediate medical attention. This app was created for people who are looking for immediate healthcare services--both true medical emergencies and non-emergency urgent care--that require quality service with quick access times. Patients will be able to track their own wait time before arriving at a provider's office and get updates from providers when they have arrived at an appointment. They will also be able to fill out their paperwork before arriving at the facility. This new innovation will allow physicians to manage their schedules better while providing timely healthcare assistance for those who need it most.

Urgently can also help those who manage a busy emergency room or urgent care facility. Beyond scheduling and managing patient information, Urgently Health allows providers to track statistics such as hot-times and most prevalent ailments. This helps to mitigate staffing concerns as well as providing meaningful data for future patient treatment. By partnering with Urgently, providers can increase their visibility in the area and streamline the patient onboarding process.

Don't have the Urgently Health app yet? Now is the time to download, as this vital healthcare innovation launches just in time for patient medical needs.
