

Lookah Launch the New Seahorse X Vape Kit and Swordfish Wax Pen

Lookah has introduced two new revolutionary wax pens, the Seahorse X and Swordfish vape pen, in time for 2021 holiday sales.

New Revolutionary Design Seahorse X

The Lookah Seahorse X is the 3rd generation of the award-winning Seahorse vape pen range.

Its innovative design incorporates 510 dab tips, 710 wax buckets, and 14mm to 18mm water pipe connectors.

This multi-use device lets consumers vape in three distinct ways with a wax pen, electronic nectar collector, or enail mode.

The borosilicate glass bubbler and patent-pending dab tips allow consumers to use this vape for water-filtered nectar collector dabs.

Lookah Marketing Manager Mr. James Mash explained, "This is the most versatile vape device Lookah has ever created."

The Seahorse X has a 510 to 710 thread adapter and a unique lineup of 710 coils designed for its wax pen mode.

A glass adapter makes the device compatible with 3rd party proprietary bubblers and most 14-18mm water pipes.

Retailing at $149.99, the Lookah Seahorse X offers the most bang for buck vaping experience from this growing player in the vape market.

Swordfish Dab Pen

The Swordfish vape pen is Lookah's answer to affordable wax vaping on the go. The 710 thread device supports three specially designed Lookah atomizing coils, one for heady clouds, one for superior taste, and one to conserve the wax concentrate used with it.

A patented magnetic clamshell clasp makes it easy to flip open the mouthpiece and access the atomizer coil. A dab tool built into the base means customers won't need to carry extra tools or equipment with them. These features make the device easy to load and use on the go.

The built-in mini dab tool slides seamlessly into the base, and a 950mAh battery brings a full day of vaping between charges. The sleek Swordfish-inspired design sits ergonomically in the hand while the one-button control ensures ease of use even for inexperienced vaper users.

"Lookah is designing vapes targeting consumers across the spectrum of the vape market," advised James Mash.

"We understand those starting out with concentrates may find more complex vape devices intimidating. By offering a range of devices, we can cater to each user's specific needs." James concluded.

Lookah focuses on ensuring its consumers have a positive vaping experience. Building a trusting relationship where consumers keep returning as they journey through their dabbing experiences and enjoying an ever-growing range of Lookah vaping products.
