

New Release: We Need More Clouds, a Children's Book which takes a deeper look at blended families

New Children's Book, We Need More Clouds by Lynnett S. Wesley focuses on the process of blending a family. When you remarry or enter a partnership that includes children from a previous relationship, blending families can take adjustment.

Washington, DC – January 19, 2022 We Need More, LLC announces the release of We Need More Clouds. It is a story about a blended family's vulnerability, transparency, and love. The process of forming a new bond with one another can be both challenging and rewarding. Although blending families may be a difficult task, you'll find tips inside on how to help your new family work through the growing pains. We hope the clouds will bring you together!

We Need More Clouds gives a realistic view of the process it takes to create life long relationships and bonds. As a Mom, Bonus Mom, and second time marriage, she felt the need to write this book to encourage those who are in blended families. She watched her children and husband day after day with great hope to create an amazing support structure and initiatives to fully connect to her blended family. Then when she truly saw what actually happened, she realized many families were not ready for the emotional work it takes. They are discouraged when they know how much time it takes to work through everyday issues. "Thank God for the Clouds. We Need More Clouds."

"It's not just a book, it's a movement."

"It's a needed book with the growing relevance of the subject for so many families."

Lynnett S. Wesley has always been fascinated by people and organizations that make the greatest and longest lasting impact in the world. Over the years, she has observed extraordinary patterns about how children think, act, and communicate and the types of environments where children operate at their personal best. Lynnett is devoted to sharing her thinking in order to help other parents, leaders and organizations inspire action.

Entrepreneur, Wife, Mother, Bonus Mom, and Full Time Government Employee. As the Founder and CEO of We Need More, LLC, Lynnett has made it her life's mission to help create memorable, lasting experiences for blended and divorced families. She believes in a bright future and the ability to build it together. Lynnett holds a Bachelor's degree in Finance from Morgan State University and a Master's in Business Administration from the University of Maryland. In addition, she is certified in Change Management from the University of Houston. Lynnett is a proud member of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc.

Available in the following formats: Paperback and digital ebook format.

All book formats may be ordered on www.weneedmoreclouds.com , in addition to Amazon and Barnes and Noble.

Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/weneedmorellc>

Twitter: https://twitter.com/weneed_more

Instagram: https://instagram.com/weneed_more

YouTube: <https://www.youtube.com/weneedmoreclouds>