Divi Flamingo Beach Resort & Casino on Bonaire Welcomes New Executive Chef
Hailing from Aruba, Executive Chef Raymond Jansen now leads the culinary team for the resort's three restaurants and two bars.

CHAPEL HILL, NC — Aruban native, Raymond Jansen, is the newest member of Divi Flamingo Beach Resort & Casino's talented culinary team. With 12 years of experience under his belt, Jansen says he is cooking up new concepts in the kitchen and creating flavorful dishes in his new Executive Chef role on Bonaire.

"I truly love what I do, and when I get in the zone, that's where my culinary creations blossom," said Jansen. "Guests can expect fresh ingredients and dishes made with love and care in a stunning oceanfront paradise."

Divi Flamingo's General Manager, Celine Van Meer, says Jansen's enthusiastic energy and love for food shines through each and every day.

"He's fun and very dedicated," said Divi Flamingo Beach Resort & Casino's General Manager Celine Van Meer. "The resort team really enjoys working with him, and we've already experienced all of the new twists and upgrades he contributed to our restaurants. We cannot wait for more!"

Jansen says his cooking style and team management skills make him the perfect fit for the job.

"My expertise is Caribbean cuisine with an international twist," Jansen explained. "I have a healthy and light cooking style, so guests can savor quality dishes that are both delicious and nutritious while on vacation."

Divi Flamingo also recently announced it will host an invite-only Rum Happy Hour presented by Rom Rincon in the resort's lush gardens on Friday, June 17 from 5-7 p.m. for the Bonaire Rum Festival. For more details, visit www.bonaierumweek.com.
