DALLAS, TEXAS and PLEASANTON, CALIF. – Sep. 19, 2022 – RightStone (www.rightstone.com), is one of 101 winning companies named to the 2022 Dallas Business Journal's Best Places to Work list in the Micro (10-24 employees) category. The annual workplace award recognizes companies for creating a work environment that employees value. This is the second consecutive year RightStone has made the list.

The Dallas Business Journal has been recognizing the top employers in North Texas for over two decades, distinguishing the top employee-centric companies operating in one of the leading cities in the nation for business and job creation. To earn a ranking, RightStone had to meet or exceed a national best practice score based on overall employee participation and performance for their category, as determined by Quantum Workplace who administered the survey. Winners will be recognized during an awards luncheon on October 20 where the rankings within each category will also be announced.

“We are honored to be recognized once again by the Dallas Business Journal for our positive and engaging work culture,” commented Jeff Koc, RightStone managing director. “I consider it a great achievement when your employees feel valued and accepted, and are appreciated for the contributions they make every day. I’m extremely proud of the culture we’ve created that provides a strong sense of belonging.”
