AUSTIN – Lab Alley, a national e-commerce provider of high-purity food and lab grade chemicals, and high-quality lab supplies, recently hit a milestone in 2022 with over 30,000 orders shipped nationwide. This also includes orders shipped to Alaska, Hawaii and even Canada.

Fred Elabed, CEO and co-founder of Lab Alley states “I am really proud of the success we had in 2022. Shipping over 30,000 orders in the midst of product shortages and price increases within the chemical industry demonstrates that customers have confidence in Lab Alley to provide essential chemicals to their company.”

With various shipping options available to their customers, Lab Alley is able to ship anything from a 100ml bottle to a pallet of cases of products. All bulk orders, which include drums, totes and pallets, will ship using freight carriers, whereas all smaller packed items travel via ground shipping. Customers that live in Hawaii and Alaska are able to purchase as well with a custom shipping option of air transportation.

Lab Alley offers their customers:

- 99% product availability guarantee;
- Same-day shipping for orders submitted by 1 p.m. CST;
- Discounted shipping rates
- Fast delivery times

Customers not only trust Lab Alley and rely on them for their high-quality products, but they always have those products in stock and can ship orders quickly and efficiently. Their attention to detail paid in the packaging and shipping departments allows them to get customers their orders in one piece and in a timely manner.
