

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MICHELLE MILLER, CBS SATURDAY MORNING CO-HOST HOLDS BOOK SIGNING FOR “BELONGING”

A Daughter’s Search for Identity through loss and love.

(Atlanta, Georgia) - Award-winning journalist and co-host of CBS Saturday Morning, Michelle Miller, will give a first glimpse of her memoir, Belonging, at a book signing on Monday, March 6, 2023. The signing and reception will be hosted by Jaimie and John Dewberry and the Dewberry Foundation, at the beautiful One Peachtree Pointe, located at 1545 Peachtree Street Northeast, near the Synchronicity Theatre, from 6pm - 8pm in Atlanta.

This chronicle of Michelle’s suffering from abandonment by her mother, the life-long quest to find her, and the secrets that molded her life and family for 50 years is deep, personal, and compelling.

With a fateful intervention by her father, Dr. Ross Miller, a trauma surgeon, and Compton’s first Black city councilman, who urged her to, “Go and find your mother...” as he laid cancer-stricken on his deathbed, was the beginning of her search for belonging.

Michelle Miller is the co-host of CBS Saturday Morning and an Emmy winning journalist for her series of reports on the National Guard’s Youth Challenge Academy and an Edward R. Murrow Award for her coverage of a day care stand-off in New Orleans. Also, a former New Orleans first lady and CBS News national correspondent; Michelle is considered an outstanding journalist by her colleagues.

For more information, please contact info@dewberryfoundation.com