Amerisure's Enjonli Hutchison Receives Business Insurance Break Out Award

Farmington Hills, Mich., March 30, 2023 — Amerisure Insurance is proud to announce that Enjonli Hutchison, manager of risk management, has received the prestigious Business Insurance Break Out Award.

The awards program, with 40 winners named throughout four regions of the United States, recognizes the next generation of insurance industry leaders, and is assessed on categories such as client service skills, expertise in field of operations, unique services developed, leadership qualities, and managerial experience.

"Enjonli is an expert in risk management and demonstrates effective leadership each day. She has been instrumental in driving key initiatives for our organization and team, including talent onboarding and digital customer services," said Kevin Clary, vice president of risk management and premium audit for Amerisure. "Receiving the Break Out award is a well-deserved accomplishment and we are proud to have Enjonli on our team."

Hutchison has exhibited outstanding mentorship and coaching for her team of risk management consultants and specialists at the company's Dallas location. Operationally, Hutchison's innovative approach to service delivery recently resulted in the creation of WebRM, an exclusive platform that allows Amerisure's customers to easily access its industry-leading risk management staff and services remotely from any connected device.

"Enjonli is a tireless advocate for her team and our organization, and gives back to her industry and community with equal enthusiasm," said Rodney Labbe, regional vice president of risk management at Amerisure. "She represents the brightest young leadership talent within our organization and industry, and we are very pleased she has been selected for the Break Out Award."

Hutchison's leadership qualities have spanned into efforts to give back to the community. She is a member of the Regional Hispanic Contractors Association in Dallas and is active with the Insurance Industry Charitable Foundation. Hutchison is also an ambassador for the Kidney Cancer Association and has annually supported their "79K Challenge" to raise awareness of the 79,000 kidney cancer diagnoses in the U.S. each year.

"It's a true honor to represent Amerisure by winning the Break Out Award, and I am fortunate to receive tremendous support from our entire risk management team and from the organization," said Hutchison.

Honorees will be recognized at a regional reception and featured in the June edition of Business Insurance. For more information on the program and a complete list of winners, visit the Business Insurance website.
