Sectricity Launches Hacker Detection Kit for SMEs

Merelbeke, April 27, 2023 - Sectricity, a leading cybersecurity company, today announces the launch of their Hacker Detection Kit for SMEs. With the kit, SMEs can detect hackers who have penetrated their company network despite the existing cybersecurity.

"With the increasing threat of cybercrime, it is crucial that companies of all sizes take their security seriously," says Yves Van Tongerloo, managing director of Sectricity. "Our hacker detection is an excellent way to improve the security of SMEs thanks to this extra layer of protection against cyber threats from within. After all, most companies do not realize when there are hackers in their network."

The kit can be easily installed and runs in the background without any additional actions from the end user. When the hacker detection detects hackers, it immediately sends an alert so that companies can take quick action to prevent further damage. Sectricity can help with this.

"One of the main advantages of our hacker detection is the real-time monitoring and alerts," adds Van Tongerloo. "Companies can now detect cyberattacks in just one second, as opposed to the average 9.4 months it takes to discover that their business has been hacked."

The hacker detection kit offers a cost-effective solution for SMEs that want to strengthen their internal network security. It offers comprehensive security coverage at a fraction of the cost associated with hiring a full-time security team or outsourcing the security needs. A trial version of 14 days can be requested via the contact form on the sectricity.com website.
