

HiringThing Named To Inc. Magazine's Best Workplaces for 2023

HiringThing has been named one of Inc's 2023 Best Workplaces for being a people-forward, transparent, respectful, fully-remote employer.

5/9/23 –HiringThing was named to Inc. magazine's annual Best Workplaces list. The list results from a comprehensive measurement of American companies that have excelled in creating exceptional workplaces and company cultures.

"When I founded HiringThing in 2012," HiringThing founder and CEO Joshua Siler said, "I was intentional about creating the kind of company where I'd want to work. HiringThing's flexible, people-forward work culture has been critical to our success, so our admission on Inc.'s Best Workplaces list is both great validation of our approach and immensely humbling."

HiringThing, a modern recruiting software as a service, has always been a people-centric company. Its fully-remote work modality gives its employees the power to create the work environment and schedule that works for them.

"We have always prioritized ensuring HiringThing's culture is a value-add to our employees," says HiringThing COO Jess Tejani, "so it's thrilling to see this effort pay off."

After collecting data from thousands of submissions, Inc. selected 591 honorees this year. Each company that was nominated took part in an employee survey conducted by Quantum Workplace, which included topics such as management effectiveness, perks, fostering employee growth, and overall company culture. The organization's benefits were also audited to determine the overall score and ranking.

"I have to thank our team for this honor," Siler said. "Creating a strong work culture that results in a great workplace is a real group effort."

"Being named to Best Workplaces is an honor that only a small fraction of companies have been able to claim," says Inc. editor-in-chief Scott Omelianuk. "Proving to the world that you're a magnet for talent and have a culture that keeps teams engaged, productive, and proud to come to work is a truly remarkable achievement.”

“We’re hiring experts who have long been advising organizations that being someplace people want to work helps increase applicant traffic, boosts retention, and overall strengthens the productivity of a company,” says Tejani, “It’s great to see that point underscored.”
